

Dear [Name]

I'd like to request approval to attend Liferay DEVCON, taking place 2–5 November 2026 at the Queen Elizabeth II Centre in London.

DEVCON is the only event entirely focused on the Liferay platform, bringing together 350+ developers and architects across 40+ technical sessions. Attending this year is a direct investment in our team's ability to work faster, smarter, and more strategically on our Liferay environment.

What I'll bring back:

- Hands-on knowledge from sessions covering cloud technologies, agentic AI, automation, security, and platform integrations. Rather than piecing together this expertise through trial and error or expensive external training, DEVCON concentrates it in 3 days.
- I'll also get direct access to Liferay's product roadmap, which means better-informed decisions on our side about what to build, what to defer, and where the platform is heading.
- The Unconference (November 5th) is attendee-driven: participants set the agenda on the day, so I can steer sessions toward the challenges most relevant to us right now.
- Cost vs. value: The conference fee covers specialized, role-specific technical learning that would cost significantly more through individual training courses or consultants. It's one trip with compounding returns.

Attending DEVCON is a focused, high-value investment, and I'm committed to making sure our team feels the impact. I'd love to move forward with registration and would appreciate your approval by [date] to take advantage of the early-bird rate before 31 July.
